Preface

The National Curriculum Framework, 2005, recommends that children's life at school must be linked to their life outside the school. This principle makes a departure from the legacy of bookish learning which continues to shape our system and causes a gap between the school, home, community and the workplace.

The student workbook on "Packaging and Bagging in Retail" is a part of the qualification package developed for the implementation of National Vocational Education Qualification Framework (NVEQF), an initiative of Ministry of Human Resource Development (MHRD), Government of India to set common principles and guidelines for a nationally recognized qualification system covering Schools, Vocational Education and Training Institutions, Technical Education Institutions, Colleges and Universities. It is envisaged that the NVEQF will promote transparency of qualifications, cross-sectoral learning, student-centred learning and facilitate learner's mobility between different qualifications, thus encouraging lifelong learning.

This student workbook, which forms a part of vocational qualification package for student's who have passed Class VIII or equivalent examination, was created by a group of experts. The Retailer's Association of Skill Council of India (RASCI), approved by the National Skill Development Corporation (NSDC) organized Retailing Industry developed the National Occupation Standards (NOS). The National Occupation Standards are a set of competency standards and guidelines endorsed by the representatives of organized retailing Industry for recognizing an assessing skills and knowledge needs to perform effectively in the workplace.

The Pandit Sunderlal Sharma Central Institute of Vocational Education (PSSCIVE), a constituent of National Council of Educational Research and Training (NCERT) in association with SKSDC has developed modular curricula and learning materials (Units) for the vocational qualification package in organized retailing sector for NVEQ levels 1 to 4; Level 1 is equivalent to Class IX. Based on NOS, occupation related core competencies (knowledge, skills and abilities) were identified for development of curricula and learning modules (Units).

This student workbook attempts to discourage rote learning and to necessary flexibility in offering of courses, necessary for breaking sharp boundaries between different subject areas. The workbook attempt to enhance these endeavour by giving higher priority and space to opportunities contemplation and wondering, discussion in small groups and activities requiring hands on experience. Hope these measures will take us significantly further in the direction of a child centred system of education outlined in the National Policy of Education (1986).

The success of this effort depends on the steps that school Principals and Teachers will take to encourage children to reflect their own learning and to pursue imaginative and on the job activities and questions. Participation of learner in skill development exercises and inculcation of values and creativity is possible if involve children as participant in learning, and not as receiver of information. These aims imply considerable change in school routines and mode of functioning. Flexibility in the daily time table would be a necessity to maintain the rigour in implementing the activities and required number of teaching days will have to be increased for teaching and training.

About the Workbook

This workbook is to assist you with completing the Unit of Competency RS105-NQ2012: Packaging and Bagging in Retail. You should work through the workbook in the classroom, at the workplace or in your own time under the guidance and supervision of your teacher or trainer. This workbook contains sessions which will help you to acquire relevant knowledge and skills (soft and hard) on various aspects of the unit of competency. Each session is small enough to be easily tackled and digested by you before you move on to the next session. Animated pictures and photographs have been included to bring about visual appeal and to make the text lively and interactive for you. You can also try to create your own illustrations using your imagination or taking the help of your teacher. Let us now see what the sections in the sessions have for you.

Section 1: Introduction

This section introduces you to the topic of the Unit. It also tells you what you will learn through the various sessions covered in the Unit.

Section 2: Relevant Knowledge

This section provides you with the relevant information on the topic(s) covered in the session. The knowledge developed through this section will enable you to perform certain activities. You should read through the information to develop an understanding on the various aspects of the topic before you complete the exercise(s).

Section 3: Exercise

Each session has exercises, which you should complete on time. You will perform the activities in the classroom, at home or at the workplace. The activities included in this section will help you to develop necessary knowledge, skills and attitude that you need for becoming competent in performing the tasks at workplace. The activities should be done under the supervision of your teacher or trainer who will guide you in completing the tasks and also provide feedback to you for improving your performance. To achieve this, prepare a timetable in consultation with your teacher or trainer and strictly adhere to the stipulated norms or standards. Do not hesitate to ask your teacher or trainer to explain anything that you do not understand.

Section 4: Assessment

The review questions included in this section will help you to check your progress. You must be able to answer all the questions before you proceed to the next session.

Introduction

Packaging has become very important part of product management. Package is a container in which a product is offered for sale. Packing is the process of wrapping a product or putting a product into packages or containers. According to Philip Kotler, packaging is an activity, which is considered with protection, economy, convenience and potential consideration of a product. It is concerned with planning and designing of the packages, containers and wrappers used. It is considered as the science, art and technology of enclosing or wrapping the products for distribution, storage, sale and use. In retail business, the retailers adopt consumer packaging. It refers to package, which is directed towards a consumer or household for final consumption of the product.

In this unit, we will study the various aspects of packaging materials, equipments, procedures of bagging and packaging, marking and labeling,

Relevant Knowledge

Methods of Packaging

The retailing firms use various types of packaging methods such as glass, tin, paper, cardboards, cellophane, plastic, polythene, packaging, etc., according to the needs of the product.

Glass Packaging: It is the cheap and transparent method of packaging which is used to give any shape and size. It is very delicate, fragile and can be easily broken. That is why glass package requires another outer package of cardboard.

Aluminium Paper Packaging: It is used for wrapping chocolates, biscuits, cigarettes etc.

Tin Containers Packaging: It is used for liquid materials like ghee, oil etc.

Lead Packaging: It is used for making tubes of shaving creams, toothpaste, medicines etc.

Paper and Cardboards Packaging: They are used for packaging the solid materials and offer an opportunity to present colourful and attractive matter on it.

Cellophane Packaging: It is used as a substitute for paper and to protect the inner contents from moisture.

Plastic Packaging: It is very popular due to its durability, transparent, and air tight.

Polythene Packaging: It is also gaining popularity for packaging daily used items like milk, ghee, juice etc.

Relevant Knowledge

Marking refers to symbol, design, distinctive, colouring used for recognizing the product in the retail store. The marking may be classified as Brand mark and Trade mark. Brand mark is that part of a brand which can be recognized but is not utter able. Trade mark is a legal right to protect a brand name or a brand mark used by many marketers to assure the customers that they are purchasing an authentic brand at a right time. It is registered with Government order, the Trade and Merchandise Marks Act 1958. Hence, the brand names, which are registered with government, are called as Trademarks.

The various types of markings are ISI mark, FPO mark, and Agmark. The use of ISI mark ensures the quality of product. The Indian Standard Institute certifies the quality of product and ISI marking became popular with setting up of Bureau of Indian Standard in 1986. The Food Processing Order (FPO) mark is provided in the rules framed under the Prevention of Food Adulteration, Act, 1954. The mark is mainly used for food items like jam, pickles, sauces, squashes etc. The Agmark is used for agriculture products and is issued by authorities constituted under the Agricultural Produces (Grading and Marking) Act 1937.
